Our guest speaker for this month, Jane Shoup, will join us from the Stevens Point UU's. Her subject, Robert Ingersoll (1833-1899), was a lawyer and popular lecturer known for advocating agnosticism. "Many of Ingersoll's speeches advocated freethought and humanism, and often poked fun at religious belief. For this the press often attacked him, but neither his views nor the negative press could stop his rising popularity. At the height of Ingersoll's fame, audiences would pay $1 or more to hear him speak, a giant sum for his day." --Wikipedia

Ms Shoup and her husband need housing the night of November 5th. Can anyone help? Please contact Judy Barisonzi (judith.barisonzi@uwc.edu) if you can volunteer.
